SAYS HUSBAND WAS TOO MEAN TO DIE

'You Are Too Mean to Die' Is Language Used Toward Sick Wife.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 27.—Alleging that her husband told her she was too mean to die, when she became seriously sick and asked that she might be sent to a hospital, Emma McCreary filed an answer and cross-complaint with the county clerk today to a complaint filed some time ago by Porter G. McCreary, seeking a divorce on the ground of desertion.

As other causes for refusing a divorce to her husband and granting it to her, Mrs. McCreary declares that several years ago her husband took all the money which both of them had saved and, very meanly, against her wish, started a saloon in Pueblo, immediately after entering into the liquor business, she and her husband became cruel to her, heaping humiliation and disgrace upon her by openly seeking and keeping company with other women.

It was three years ago, according to her complaint, that McCreary told her she was too mean to die. They had moved to Florence, Colo., and Mrs. McCreary had become very ill. She asked to go to a hospital, and her husband, she says, told her: "Go home, go anywhere you like. You are too mean to die."

McCreary is a locomotive engineer and, according to his wife, earns $150 a month, of which he gives her $25. She asks the court to allow her $30 alimony, in addition to $20 a month for the maintenance of the two children and sons. She also asks for $250 attorneys' fees and $150 for costs of the action.

ELECTION JUDGES RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS

Class Meetings Held by Those in Ogden, Huntsville and Plain City Districts.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 27.—Orders that the election judges of all districts of Ogden, Huntsville and Plain City will be properly skilled in the use of voting machines, three class meetings were held in the county commissioners' room of the court house today. The first meeting was at 8 a. m., the second at 2 p. m., and the third at 4 p. m. Meetings are to be held in Huntsville, November 3, and in Plain City, November 4, to instruct judges who could not attend any of today's sessions.

George Folkman, who was appointed by the county commissioners to take charge of and furnish the election supplies and machines, is in charge of the classes, it being part of his duty to instruct the election judges. The course of instruction also embraces the things to be attended to by the judges before the opening of the polls on November 8, during the time of election hours and after the closing of the polls. This covers the handling of the tally sheets and registration lists, the consideration of challenges and making the returns of election. Mr. Folkman is the custodian of the machines, but in order that voters may be properly drilled in their use he has allowed the political parties to install them in their respective headquarters.

These laborers have accumulated this wealth working at $50 to $75 a month, George Alex, a Greek, who says the money uncovered from the hiding place, said:

SPECIAL POLICE FOR HALLOWEEN

Chief Browning Takes Precautions for Protection of Property.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 27.—To guard against acts of vandalism in the celebration of Halloween this year, Chief of Police Thomas E. Browning has sworn in number of special officers, who will begin parading the city in plain clothes Friday night and keep watch all Monday night. These officers will be sent to all parts of the city to protect property owners from destruction of their property.

Last year several hundred dollars damage was done by pranksters, and the police chief is determined there shall not be repetition of such destruction this year. Gates were stolen, houses turned over, cattle and horses turned astray, windows broken and innumerable acts of violence committed.

"I have no intention of stopping the innocent fun of children who wish to enjoy the occasion by performing innocent pranks," said Chief Browning this afternoon, "but willful destruction of any sort absolutely will not be tolerated. All officers will be instructed to arrest any violators or disturbers and the vandals will not be excused with reprimands this year. If the boy who is arrested is over the age of 18 years, he will be prosecuted in the regular manner, while if he is younger than 18 he will be turned over to the juvenile court."

EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM

More Worthless Checks Said to Have Been Issued by Goodwin in Possession of Police.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 27.—Another link was added to the chain of evidence against James Goodwin, alias Sam Brown, who is held in the city jail on the charge of forgery, when George Bello, proprietor of the Ogden beer hall, turned a worthless check, passed by Goodwin, over to the police this morning.

The check was signed by Sam Steffen, and as no such person is known in this city, the authorities believe they have secured evidence which is practically sure to convict. The check was drawn for $21.55.

After the check was submitted by Bello, the police learned that Goodwin visited J. T. Rushmer, an optician, some time ago to have his eyes tested. Rushmer advised Goodwin to wear a pair of glasses which he offered to sell. Goodwin is said to have given the optician a check for $21.21 in payment, but after examining the paper, Rushmer refused it, although he allowed Goodwin to go without notifying the police.

Riley entered seven different saloons on lower Twenty-fifth street, and each saloon got mixed up anatomically with some one who didn't share his battle with the question, "Riley is a nee is not a detriment to crime."

When searched at the counter, Riley declared he had been robbed of $7.

POLICE ARE DOUBTFUL

Place Little Credit in Robbery Story Told by Dennis Dunn.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 27.—Claiming to have been robbed of $321.50 while sleeping in a Twenty-fifth street rooming house, Dennis Dunn appeared at the police station today to ask aid in the search for the robbers.

While the police have promised to do all in their power to apprehend the thieves, little credit is given to Dunn's story, as he was arrested at police station only a few days ago on a charge of drunkenness.

Dunn says he came to the station on that occasion to report the theft, and it is the belief of the police that he spent his money for drink and a "good time."

WOMEN'S CLUB HAS STIRRING RALLY

Enthusiastic Meeting of Republicans Addressed by Salt Laker.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Provo, Oct. 27.—At a Republican rally held here this afternoon in the Majestic theatre, Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas of Salt Lake Jacob Evans of Provo and Fred A. Maynard of Salt Lake were the speakers. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Provo Women's Republican club.

In the party which came down from Salt Lake in automobiles, were the following: Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas, Judge and Mrs. Fred A. Maynard, Mrs. Margaret Zane Wither, Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton and Mrs. Leo Trent.

On the way down the party was delayed by a punctured auto tire and Judge Maynard referred to the difficulty in his speech and declared he hoped that the ladies would see to it that the tire of the country's political auto does not get punctured and the car of progress be thereby delayed.

Jacob Evans was the first speaker and presented the liquor question, showing that under local option there would be more chance for real prohibition than under the state-wide theory of the Democrats, for the reason that if the majority of the voters of any city or town voted for prohibition, they would see to it that officers were elected who would enforce the law, while, if the majority voted against prohibition, they would have the people at their backs in any effort to enforce the law, while, if the majority voted for prohibition, they would have the people at their backs in any effort to enforce the law.

Law Not Enforced.
He cited the fact that the law has not been enforced in the states which have experimented with it and that in many instances it has been repealed after an unsuccessful effort to enforce it.

Ex-Governor Thomas called attention to the fact that the legislature to be elected would not only deal with legislation of local importance, but would also elect a United States senator, who would have the power to legislate for the whole country and declared that it is important that the man sent to the Senate should be one who would sustain the protective tariff policy, which is so important for the people of this state to have maintained.

He gave figures and read reports showing the financial advantages to the working man of the protective tariff. In advance wages over those of non-protection countries, and read from a resolution adopted by the Utah legislature in 1882 which provided that the people of Utah from the earliest history of the state had been consistent supporters of the tariff.

Question for Democrats.
Mr. Thomas suggested that the next Democratic speaker who comes to Provo and asks to name one article that he is going to build a sugar factory in Utah county, "Uncle Jesse" might appear before a Democratic rally here tonight and talk on the issues of the tariff.

He assured the people that it had always been his dream of being in a political arena, and he was now here to declare the only way in which continued prosperity and happiness could be realized was by the adoption of Republican policies. A musical program was featured.

WISE WORDS

A Physician on Food.
A physician, of Portland, Oregon, has views about food. He says:

"I have always believed that the duty of the physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health, especially by hygienic and dietetic laws."

"With such a feeling as to my duty, I take great pleasure in saying to the public that in my own experience and also from personal observation, I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts, and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence."

"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts. To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach, especially for the children, as the little book 'The Road to Wellville,' in pkgs. 'There's a Reason.'"

"Ever read the above letter? A new food appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

What it means to buy clothing on credit at the National?

Are you aware of the fact that the National Credit Company is in a position to sell you a suit or an overcoat on credit for less money than you can buy from any "Tom, Dick or Harry," for cash? This is good material for thought. Think it over. If you do, you'll buy from us on credit.

He took occasion to refer to the Democratic doctrine of initiative and referendum, and as to what they supposed would have happened to the constitution of the state if it had been adopted. He said that the Democratic party of the state was in a position to sell you a suit or an overcoat on credit for less money than you can buy from any "Tom, Dick or Harry," for cash.
